

Chairman's message

Thank you for your good wishes on my 60th birthday! I am deeply touched and grateful. Birthdays come and go. But what lasts is our sense of honour and the warmth of good friendships. All great tenets of life are simple, and many can be expressed in a single word: freedom, justice, duty, mercy, hope and last but not the least, honour. As Nelson Mandela had said, 'Honour belongs to those who never forsake the truth even when things seem dark and grim, who try over and over again, who are never discouraged by insults, humiliation and even defeat.' Honour is all about having a sense of pride in integrity and responsibility. This means recognising the power that you have and making sure you are using it judiciously. Honour means respect for others – the golden rule that says, 'Treat people the way you want to be treated.'

Indeed, honour is a necessary prerequisite for almost everything that we do today. It keeps deception at bay and helps us retain our beliefs, without allowing the disposition of others to cloud our own judgment. At times, just being honourable is not good enough; one has to maintain one's honour by not tarnishing it. Humility forms the basis of honour. An honourable person faces his mistakes and follies straight on without blaming others for his fault. What we should understand is that we are responsible for our own actions.

People have different ways of dealing with things. Your views on a particular subject may differ from another person's. Therefore, listen to different thoughts before dismissing someone. It is proof of honour when you show compassion and respect by not judging anyone because you don't know what they are thinking or feeling. Honour is something that is never obtained and sustained easily. One must have patience and try hard to become a person of honesty and goodwill. Honour isn't about making the right choices. It is about dealing with the consequences. As the Greek philosopher Seneca opined, 'Honour is like a rugged island without a shore. Once you have left it, you cannot return.'

Our Chairman Turns Sixty

Birthdays are special occasions and on 19th July our Chairman, Harsh Neotia, celebrated his 60th birthday with some of his ex-colleagues from Ambuja Cements who used to work closely with him. Many of them came to Kolkata from various parts of the country and abroad to make the day memorable for him. They had strung together a video montage of several old and cherished memories from the days when he was the Managing Director of Ambuja Cements. It was a nostalgic walk down memory lane and the day was full of celebrations and exchange of warm wishes. It was also time to sing for him, 'Tum jeeyo hazaron saal/ Saal ke din hon pachaas hazaar...' Some glimpses to cherish.

Ten teams competed against each other during the competition and the top three were awarded trophies.

Stuti Das's only love since childhood was mathematics. Her father Sanjay Kumar Das is a vendor in Barrackpore, supplying daily needs to local stationary shops on his bicycle. Stuti, though a first-generation learner, is channelizing her energy towards whole-heartedly pursuing her academics. Her enthusiasm to study and do well was noticed in early 2016 by Ambuja Neotia and they began supporting her education.

Stuti's score-card of 2021 is excellent. After all-India 12th rank in GATE, she started applying for a Ph.D research programme in India's premier institutions. In spite of the pandemic outbreak, she has been selected by IIT Kanpur, IIT Kharagpur, IISER Bhopal and IIT Roorkee for pursuing her dream.

It is up to her to choose the institution where she would like to enlist as a research scholar.
